GOV. AL. SMITH IS WONDER MAN

New York Democrat Who Ran a Million Votes Ahead of Ticket and Lost.

New York, Nov. 4.—Although defeated for reelection, Gov. Al. Smith said today that the miracle man of American politics.

Republicans and democrats alike agree that the democratic governor's own election despite the more than 1,000,000 New York landslide plurality for Senator Harding's ticket, was a record equaled in popular elections.

Figures tell the tale of Gov. Smith's remarkable run better than any other. His estimated state plurality over Cox was 1,272,595. Nathan Miller's estimated plurality over Smith was 57,793.

Far Outran Opponent. The republican gubernatorial candidate this year ran more than 1,000,000 ahead of the republican presidential candidate and Gov. Smith ran just as far ahead of Cox, the democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Outside of this city, Harding's estimated plurality over Cox was 338,463. Little Miller's upstate plurality over Smith is only 377,314. It was only the strongly republican rural districts that pulled Miller through.

Much of Smith's achievement undoubtedly is due to his personal popularity, but there is no denying the fact that he carried the state by a landslide. He carried the state by a landslide. He carried the state by a landslide.

Smith already is being spoken of as the latest democratic presidential candidate in 1924, and eastern Democrats are bemoaning the fact that he was not the national standard bearer this year.

Another great votegetter for Smith was his opponent, Nathan Miller. He carried the state by a landslide. He carried the state by a landslide.

One of the most popular political figures in New York state in many years. He is known as a man dressed by all as a man.

PABST BULL SALE WAS NOTED EVENT

Colonel Fred Pabst and his manager Bert Crampin, who sold a large number of bulls at the Pabst bull sale, held at Oconomowoc, October 9. Bulls, 37 of them, the surplus of such sales as created, King Pontiac, and Woodford, sold for an average of $870 each.

Bull sales are uncommon. Especially are they uncommon in Wisconsin. Many were curious to be an eye witness to the experiment.

Many others wanted some of the noted blood. Buyers and spectators were from all over the middle west and sales were made in four states. To be sure most of the offering went to Wisconsin.

Fifteen counties in Wisconsin, if they didn't have it heretofore, can now boast of famous blood lines from the Pabst farm. Waukesha county was the heaviest buyer.

Seven sons of Woodford, Clyde being next with five purchases and Walden, Wisconsin, got one each. Winnebago county got one.

Fourth of the sons of Creator offered. This county is raising over 100,000 head of cattle. They also have a 35-lb. son of Ormsby, Korndyke Lad, which was purchased by Sevel & Rice at the time this calf was sold.

At the time this calf was sold, but three weeks old which made him the highest priced calf ever sold at public auction. This same county was one of the two to show a Calf Show in Chicago.

Other counties represented in the purchasing columns were Dodge, Racine, Marquette, Green, Buffalo, Rock, Kenosha, Washington, Iowa, and one from Kansas.

The top of the sale was reached by a son of King Pontiac Champion, who sold for $1,000. An Ohio man made the last bid on him.

Two $2,000 sons of Creator were next high. One went to West Concord, Minnesota, and the other to Roy Judd of Oxford, Wisconsin.

HARDING VICTORY STILL GROWING

SOLID SOUTH IS BROKEN BY HARDING

cratic representatives reported elected. A notable instance was in New York, where three republican candidates defeated the democratic ticket in the 15th district, Ansonie in the 21st and Rosendale in the 23rd—had forged ahead of Dooling, Donnan and McKinley, earlier reported elected.

One Socialist Elected. The house will have one socialist member—Meyer London, of New York, who defeated Henry M. Goldfogge, fusion candidate in the 12th. The prohibition party lost its lone representative, but an independent prohibitionist, Milton W. Shreve, was elected from the 25th Pennsylvania district.

Several notable upsets occurred in the congressional race—among them the retirement by Missouri voters of former Speaker Champ Clark, of the Democratic party.

Post election developments within the ranks of the beaten democratic party included a statement by William J. Bryan in which he declared for defeat between President Wilson and Candidate Cox, asserting that the former had laid the foundation for the disaster and the latter had completed the structure.

Wayne B. Wheeler, executive counsel of the Anti-Saloon league of America, issued a statement declaring a check of the congressional election in 40 states showed a substantial majority in both houses against any beer or wine amendment.

List of Electoral Votes. Returns early today showed the following states had given their electoral votes—a total of 386—to Harding: California 13; Colorado 6; Connecticut 5; Delaware 3; Idaho 4; Illinois 29; Indiana 15; Minnesota 12; Missouri 14; Nebraska 13; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey 14; New York 36; North Carolina 10; North Dakota 3; Ohio 24; Oklahoma 5; Oregon 6; Pennsylvania 23; Rhode Island 4; South Dakota 3; Tennessee 12; Utah 4; Virginia 12; Washington 7; West Virginia 5; Wisconsin 13; and Wyoming 3—a total of 386.

Cox Has 127. Governor Cox has the following states: Alabama 12; Arkansas 9; Florida 6; Georgia 14; Kentucky 13; Louisiana 10; Mississippi 10; Texas 34; and Virginia 12—a total of 127.

States still in the doubtful list, lacking in returns today were: Arizona 3; Montana 4; Nevada 3; New Mexico 3; and North Dakota 3—a total of 18.

HIGH SPOTS IN ELECTION

Joe Cannon will have served 46 years in congress if he finishes out the term for which he was elected Tuesday.

Champ Clark has been in congress for 25 years having served from 1893 with one term out. He was defeated by a young unknown republican, Philan in California for the senate is as bald as a barber and a newspaper man formerly owner of the San Francisco Chronicle.

Harding will be the first newspaper editor ever elected to the presidency. Montana has gone republican defeating the nonpartisan league which attacked itself to the democratic party there. The same thing happened in Colorado.

Every district in Wisconsin will be represented by a republican congressman. Among the leaders are Dave Clason of Oconto, who will get a third term.

Berger's defeat is a hard blow to the socialists. Two years ago he received 100,000 votes in the state for local socialist. For senate he lost. Debs will not be up to that mark on present indications. The socialists in Milwaukee county have been badly broken up by the entrance of a mass of them into the party of the nonpartisan league.

At Smith is already being touted for president in 1924. But lots of things happen in four years.

ELECTION RETURNS OF VARIOUS STATES

The vote early today stood: Bland 77,022; Ellis 77,007.

With Champ Clark defeated by C. W. Hackle of Warrenton, Mo., indications were that the republicans would gain eight members in the house if present leads are retained. Ten republicans seem sure of election with Harry Hawes of St. Louis the only democrat whose victory was conceded. Two democratic returns.

NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 4.—Revised returns from all but 22 of the 7,308 districts of the state, today, gave Nathan L. Miller, republican a plurality of 63,275, over Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the gubernatorial contest. The vote was: Miller, (R), 1,819,580; Smith, 1,256,311.

COLORADO

Denver, Colo., Nov. 4.—Related returns from all over the state in Tuesday's election continue to pile up republican majorities. Election of the entire state ticket with the exception of state superintendent of public instruction; election of a United States senator, and three of the four congressmen virtually was assured.

OHIO

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 4.—Returns from all over the state today showed the following states had given their electoral votes—a total of 386—to Harding: California 13; Colorado 6; Connecticut 5; Delaware 3; Idaho 4; Illinois 29; Indiana 15; Minnesota 12; Missouri 14; Nebraska 13; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey 14; New York 36; North Carolina 10; North Dakota 3; Ohio 24; Oklahoma 5; Oregon 6; Pennsylvania 23; Rhode Island 4; South Dakota 3; Tennessee 12; Utah 4; Virginia 12; Washington 7; West Virginia 5; Wisconsin 13; and Wyoming 3—a total of 386.

MICHIGAN

Detroit, Nov. 4.—The amendment dispending with parochial and private schools in Michigan was decisively defeated at Tuesday's election. Up to noon on the presidential ticket returns indicate Harding received more votes than were cast for all candidates on the presidential ticket of four years ago.

FIRST CONCERT OF AMERICAN LEGION
PROVES SUCCESS

Before an audience that filled the lower part of the house and part of the gallery, the American Legion choir of St. Mary's church, which was singing at the concert, earned its way into the souls of Janesville people Wednesday night. Brought here by the Richard Hills Janesville post of the American Legion, they were stamped with approval by the audience which lost no time in congratulating the ex-servicemen in the excellence of their selection. As a result of what is to be expected from the balance of the legion's musical course, there is no doubt that when the next number, "Elsie Beker" on February 22—comes, standing room will beat a premium.

Appearing at the Congregational church, the Criterion quartet sang superbly. Their work stamped them as having a quartet which for excellence in part singing and in solos, and for variety in repertoire, would be difficult to surpass. Enthusiastic applause greeted every number, and although the approval was met with generous encores, the audience would gladly have listened appreciatively to more.

Only one disappointment was felt by the audience. That was the disposition of Frank Miller, tenor, who was therefore unable to do any solo work. No one of the quartet could be picked out for particular comment. John Young, tenor, was most pleasing in his rendition. "Elsie Beker" (Layward); George Reardon, baritone, touched the soul with sentimental ballads and strummed on martial chords with "The Americans Come" which recalled the arrival of the Yanks in France. Donald Chalmers, basso, was a revelation. He has a voice of great range and charming depth.

FAVOR 4 SITES FOR COMFORT STATIONS

Members of Committee Would Have Two on Each Side of River.

Real results were accomplished by the special committee on comfort stations in a tour of the downtown district, Wednesday afternoon. Decision was reached informally to install four comfort stations at the following points:

For women—Public library basement. Rear of Filch Lumber Co. office.

For men—Public library basement. City hall basement.

The committee will doubtless report its findings at the adjourned regular meeting of the council next Monday. Definite action will be taken, it is predicted.

After thorough consideration, it was decided to abandon the plan of a station for both men and women. It was found impossible to further consider it owing to the position of the sewer which is too high to permit of proper flooring.

To Cut Stairways
Several vacant stores and basements were considered and rejected for various reasons. The public library basement was inspected and the opinion of City Engineer C. V. Koch was obtained on the feasibility of cutting in two outside doors and having stairways made directly to the basement for public comfort stations for both sexes. The committee unanimously considered Koch was obtained on the opinion that it is owned by the city, is heated and can be used with little extra expense.

Two on West Side
To fill the need on the west side of the river, signs will be placed directing men to comfort stations in the basement of the city hall which are already installed. It was decided

Dow Traces Menace of Civilization
Back to Days of Abraham.

The largest audience thus far in the evangelistic campaign greeted Mr. Dow and N. O. Echols last night at the Cargill Methodist church. Mr. Dow spoke last night on the subject: "Jehmal, or The Sin of Christianity Unbelief." He traced the Jewish nation and Hebrew religion to the place where he doubted God's promise to Abraham, the founder of the Jewish nation and Hebrew religion, to the place where he doubted God's promise to Abraham, the founder of the Jewish nation and Hebrew religion, to the place where he doubted God's promise to Abraham, the founder of the Jewish nation and Hebrew religion.

BETTER SCHOOL WORK.

Beginning November 14 and lasting for six days, Janesville will observe "Good School Week." It is due to the efforts of the indefatigable superintendent of schools, Frank Holt, that this will be done. What we have to do in Janesville is to establish a higher appreciation of the needs of the public schools and a stronger sentiment among the parents and those who pay taxes for their support, by disseminating a more general knowledge of the schools and their needs, particularly from the physical viewpoint.

We educate in these days for health of body as well as for strength of mind. To insure health of body we must have well-lighted and sanitariously perfect school rooms and buildings. Have we these in Janesville? Is the child getting all that he should in school outside of the text book lore which is the basic reason for schools? These and other questions, a stimulation of the parents to take up the work begun by the school teacher after the child reaches home, to know more of the school and the teacher and the child, to know what is the physical condition of the building in which the child spends many hours while in the plastic stage, and whether it meets all the requirements for healthful education, will be discussed in a series of public meetings during Good School Week.

Few communities are better educated, have better teachers, or a more appreciative parentage, than Janesville. Here, however, is a stimulus to do better. Let us help all our might to make Good School Week a week for better schools.

THE CALM AFTER THE STORM.

Wednesday every known word expressing astonishment was used in the newspaper reports of the election. But the American people quickly accommodated themselves to any situation and have accepted the verdict of Tuesday as a matter of course. It is noticed that Mr. Bryan and some of the others who have been in steady opposition to the dominating policies of the democratic party, have stated that the party is dead, and some new party must be built on the ruins of the old. We doubt it and hope it is not true. The democratic party may be wrecked and the smallness of the vote is pitiable, but this republic is a government of principles enunciated through parties. Mr. Harding started the campaign in his acceptance speech with this preamble, "Responsibilities must be fixed, not on individuals, but on parties or organizations representative of principles. It would be a sad thing were we to have a great dominating party without a strong corrective opposition. No matter how high and virtuous the party might be in principle, the temptation to arrogance would eventually be fatal. This is what made the democratic party a failure—utter and complete this year—arrogance and egotism, assumption of almighty presence and failure to listen to the rumblings of public disapproval."

The government is the keystone of an arch, and that keystone is supported by opposition. The strength of the arch is the strength of the two opposing sides. One of the failures of the democratic party has been the solid south. When a democratic candidate has been nominated we have taken a pencil and given to him the 11 southern states, once in the confederacy, and with Bourbon instinct, never learning and never forgetting.

In this election about all the electoral votes Mr. Cox will receive come from these southern cotton states. He has not won all of them at that. He lost Tennessee, which for the last decade has been coming out of the agricultural chrysalis into a diversification of industry. Here has been exercised an independence devoid of that bugaboo of negro domination, which really no longer exists, except in memory and tradition.

The election may be taken as a rebuke to the administration. It was a solemn referendum indeed. Its answer has been the most emphatic, far-reaching call of "No" ever uttered by the American people.

It is no great thing to fight a war compared to the needs after a war. In war the nation does things which men do when in great peril; they burn or dynamite houses to stay the path of fire. They sacrifice everything in the home to avert disaster or to save the lives of themselves or loved ones. It is a movement of hysteria. The last dollar is spent, the last rag is handed out to win in war. But in peace—that is different. There is need for exercise of brain and mind and calm thought and careful stepping. There is where the administration has failed. It kept up the war hysteria by forced draft into the hours of peace. It was, like Louis XVII before the guillotine over-shadowed him. He did not believe the people would ever rise. Mr. Wilson took no note of the rumblings of revolution.

In the calm after the storm of Tuesday there are many things to face—many problems of our own to solve, many thoughts other than cheering or gloating. And the biggest one is to take up the work which has been neglected—the reconstruction following the war,—and put it through.

In the United States 25,000,000 people say by ballot who is to be head of the government; in Greece the cabinet invites a 10 year old slip of a boy who has never done anything to meet such a fate, to sit on the throne as a titular king. And then there are some people who do not like the government.

Mr. Morgan, candidate for attorney general, has been elected by a great majority. The independence of the voters of the state is shown in the result when Blaine can carry the state by 100,000 and a man on the same ticket opposing him get an equally large majority.

Work As a Cure

By FREDERICK J. GASKIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 4.—Patients in 45 Government hospitals are having work prescribed for them for curative purposes.

The ward doctor making his rounds stops at the bed of a man recovering from a broken arm: "A little stiff," comments the doctor. "Need something to loosen you up." And he prescribes a large blank, and checks it in various places as he works in the ward, as a therapeutic measure.

The blank is turned over to a Reconstruction Aide, who proceeds diplomatically to find out if the patient has any interest in weaving, drawing, basketry, or wood-carving. If he is apathetic, she tries to arouse his interest gradually, without making him feel that he is being forced. Usually cases of extreme depression can be reached and benefited by hand work of some sort or another.

At first many doctors in the hospitals were skeptical of the physical good to be derived from work, but confronted with statistics from their own hospitals and seeing the effect on the patients in their care, the Government physicians have nearly all been converted to a firm belief in Occupational Therapy.

This method of treatment doubtless reminds you of the work done in the Army hospitals by the reconstruction aides, and it is an outgrowth of that, though different in many ways. The idea started years ago when some hospitals and similar institutions had convalescent patients do light work, as much for a help to the institution as for the exercise it gave the patient. Then, some 15 years before the war, there came a new idea, pointing with a hammer or a hammering book cover. But confronted with statistics from their own hospitals and seeing the effect on the patients in their care, the Government physicians have nearly all been converted to a firm belief in Occupational Therapy.

There the matter stayed until during the war it became an institution in the Army and Navy hospitals as educational and reconstructive work with the idea of giving maladjusted men some new interest and useful occupation. But all this time, there was no definite system developed showing the relative curative values of the different types of work.

This is being worked out now in the hospitals of the Public Health Service, and the surgeons in charge say that they are just beginning to see the real curative value of therapy.

Adaptation of the work to the individual is extremely important, according to Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. Unless he is guided in selection of work, the active tubercular patient may be attracted by heavier work than is considered to be beneficial, such as carpentry.

Basket work with large reeds often fits in well with excitable mental cases. A simple pattern with no complications of elaborate design or unusual shape is given them, because the monotony of weaving round and round without much need for thought has a quieting effect. The active tubercular patient, on the other hand, requires considerable effort. But he can make intricate designs in raffia basketry, as this type of work keeps the mind fully occupied, but does not require very great exertion on the part of the patient.

These are crude classifications, and the doctors are well aware of it. As time goes on, however, they expect to state the cases in more detail, in order to know more accurately the value of motion and effort used in the crafts and in different kinds of garden work.

Dr. Maddox explains that the curative influence of a suitable occupation is more often mental than physical. "There are nearly always in a hospital," he says, "few patients who are inclined to argue about everything. If you can set one of these men to follow your instructions in folding a paper puzzle, or threading a needle, you have got him to take orders, and he will be that much more tractable when it comes to matters of medicine and diet."

"Then, many hospital patients become depressed and morbid and find little during a long convalescence. For one of these gloomy patients who is able to get about, the doctor would prescribe some kind of work to be taken in the hospital workshop. At first, perhaps, the patient is only wheeled down to the shop to watch the other men at work, as a diversion. Then, he is drawn into the conversation of the whittling, joking and in a few days he is at work, and one of them."

In the year in which the Public Health Service has been giving this kind of treatment, it has found the effect on morale to be no small part of the value of the work. The Public Health Service has in its charge all the ex-soldiers who need treatment for physical disability. When these men were in the Army hospitals they were under orders and could not go home or back to camp until discharged by the surgeon. Now, the men in care of the Public Health Service are civilians and have the right of civilians to leave a hospital even against the surgeon's advice (that is, unless they are mental patients).

Some of the men have been leaving sooner than they should because they tired of the monotony of hospital life, or because they thought they could improve as rapidly at home or even at work. "Something to do," in these cases has proved a valuable first aid toward keeping them contented.

In one hospital, it is reported, where there were 392 men, 283 were taking Occupational Therapy, and 129 were not. Of the 283 only two left the hospital before they were discharged by the medical officer, while of the other 129, 83 either deserted or left the hospital against the advice of the physicians. Of course, it is not fair to say these men, or that the 83 would have stayed if they had taken it. But the records sent in each week from the Public Health Service hospitals tell an unvarying story of increasing interest on the part of the men who have a chance to try the work cure.

Over 2,000 patients, or about one-third of those in 45 Government hospitals, are taking Occupational Therapy now under the supervision of 250 Reconstruction Aides, and a few technicians. There are six more Public Health Service hospitals which have not started the treatment, because competent aides are scarce.
